

Language, Mind & Society: Semiological Perspectives
School of English, University of Hong Kong
2nd & 3rd December 2016

Friday 2nd December

9.15 9.45 AM: Arrival/coffee

9.50 AM: Welcome

10.00 AM

Metalinguistic practices and normative attitudes

Dorthe Duncker, University of Copenhagen

11.00 AM

Talk Like a Book: Linguistic and Communicational Competence in the Certification of University Lecturers' Ability to Instruct in English As A Lingua Franca

Andrew Fish, Aalborg University

12 – 1.30 PM – LUNCH

1.45 – 2.45 PM

(Westernized) Zen Buddhism and Integrationism: Non-solutions to Non-problems?"

Chris Hutton, University of Hong Kong

2.45 – 3.45 PM

Integrating linguistic anthropology – prospects for Harrisian ethnographies

David Karlander, Stockholm University

3.45 PM – Coffee break

4 – 4.30 PM

Perceiving the Hong Kong democratic movement in a new light: the lay-oriented perspective of linguistic belief

Kim Hon, University of Hong Kong

Saturday 3rd December

9.30 AM – Arrival/coffee

10.00 AM

Was Benedetto Croce an integrationist avant la lettre?

Adrian Pablé, University of Hong Kong

11.00 AM

Integrating emotion in interaction in the case of acquired brain injury

Charlotte Marie Bisgaard Klemmensen, Aalborg University

12 – 1.30 PM - LUNCH

1.45 – 2.45 PM

Explaining language? Questions of methodology, generalisation, fact and value

Jon Orman, University of Hong Kong

2.45 – 3.45 PM

Affect, the language myth, and the creation of an affective community

Jasper Wu, University of Hong Kong

3.45 PM – Coffee break

4 – 4.45 PM – Roundtable discussion