

The Annual Conference of the International Association for the Integrational Study of Language and Communication: “Integrationism and Philosophies of Language: Emerging Alternative Epistemologies in the Global North and Global South”

Conference Begins: Sunday, September 1, 2019

Opening Welcome (8:30-9): Sinfree Makoni

- Opening song: Betty Dhlamini

Featured Speaker (9-9:45): Walter Mignolo, Duke University

- Venue: Willard 262

Coffee Break (9:45-10:00)

Panel Session #1: (10:00-11:15)

Session A: Language in Higher Education Willard 167

- L. Hibbert: Advancing border thinking through defamiliarization in uncovering the darker side of coloniality and modernity in South African higher education
- L. Mafofo: A local discursive dimension of a specific historical slice of context: University students' narratives about police experiences during #FeesMustFall protests
- C. Jordao: Southern Epistemologies and English teaching in Brazil: decolonizing applied linguistics and ELT
- E. Lee: Materializing decolonial thinking and translanguaging: Reimagining the language and literacy classroom

Session B: Language and Technology Willard 169

- S.C. Ndlangamandla: Languaging in online multilingual educational contexts: A mismatch between global North epistemologies and evidence from a South African Institution
- A. Abdelhay: The Cultural Politics of Language in the Sudan: “The Street doesn't teach English”
- S. Sultana: Stylization in Transglossic Language Practices of Young Adults in Bangladesh

Panel Session #2: (11:20-12:30)

Session A: Language Learning and the Phenomenon of Language Willard 167

- J. Thomas: Brofolized Talk about Swahili: Ghanaian Perspectives on African Language Planning
- E. Trentman: Monolingual ideologies and Plurilingual Realities: US Learners of Arabic in Study Abroad and Telecollaboration
- A. Uju: The Taquito Hot Seat: Socializing monolingual bias through error correction practices in a Portuguese language classroom

Session B: Integrationism and the emergence of text Willard 169

- C. Conrad: What is a text?
- A. Cengiz: Re-contextualization of the author and reader position in Simone de Beauvoir's Le deuxième sexe in the Turkish cultural environment through translation
- S. Kwok: The language Myth behind (Post)colonial Translation: An Integrationist Perspective

Lunch (12:30-1:40)

Executive Meeting for the Integrational Study of Language and Communication (12:30-1:40 *During Lunch)

Featured Speaker (1:45- 2:30) Chris Hutton, Department of English, University of Hong Kong

- Integrationism and Personalism Venue: Willard 262

Panel Session #3 (2:35-3:45)

Session A: The Power of Naming Willard 167

- S. Bagga-Gupta: Making visible and going beyond "single academic stories" in the Language and Educational Sciences. A turn towards alternatives
- A. Kaiper: Metonymic Power. Policies and Narratives of "English," "Education," and "Literacy" in South African Adult Education
- S. El-Sayed: Gender Representation in Disney Animation Dubbings- A Feminist Perspective

Session B: Language and "Otherization" Willard 169

- C. D. Leymarie: The Construction of Context: narratives about literacy from the Somali American community of Clarkston, Georgia
- D. Bade: Edward Said, Roy Asked, and the Peasant Responded: Three Reflections on Peasants, Popular Culture and Intellectuals
- R. K. Mammadov: Vision of Eurovision: Visual Language in Profiling of Azerbaijan and Sweden as a Reflection of Eurocentric Bias

Plenary Panel discussion (3:55- 5:15): based on responses to the book Languaging Without languages: beyond metro-poly,pluri and translanguaging by Sabino (2018) Willard 262

- D. Gramling
- E. G. Trentman
- M. Haneda

Second Day of Conference: Monday, September 2, 2019

Featured Speaker (9:00-9:45): Arthur Spears, City University of New York Willard 262

Coffee Break (9:45- 9:55)

Skype address (9:55-10:35): Shi-Xu, Hangzhou Normal University, China
Emerging Chinese communication in times of global turbulence Willard 262

Panel Session #4: (10:45-12:00)

Session A: Multimodalities Willard 167

- D. Dunker & P. Jones: A clash of Linguistic philosophies? The Linguistics of Charles Goodwin's cooperative action an integrationist perspective
- R. Bayeck: The Language of Songo board gameplay and implications for language learning
- B. Samuelson & B.Dlamini: Between Us: Conversations about the Global North and South

Session B: Translanguaging #1 Willard 169

- M. Kafle: "I read in English but understand in Nepali" Students with refugee backgrounds negotiating Academic Literacy
- J.W. Lee: From Ius Sanguinis to Ius Agendi: Insights from a Hongkonger Ethnolanguaging as Korean
- D. Karlander: The question of lay thinking in anti-linguistic sociolinguistics

Session C: Translanguaging #2 Willard 173

- M. Madiba: Translanguaging in South Africa: something new and torn
- McGregor: Investigating productions of structural monolingualism in study abroad
- B. E. Antia: Students' marginalia and notes: analytical and theoretical perspectives from Integrationism, Translanguaging and Sociocultural Theory

Lunch (12:00-1:15)

Editorial Board for the Journal of Language and Communication (12:00-1:15 *During Lunch)

Featured Speaker (1:20- 2:05): Jim Lantolf (Department of Applied Linguistics, Penn State University)

- Venue: Willard 262

Panel Session #5: (2:10-4:30)

Session A: Outward Expansion of Integrationism Willard 167

- A. Pable: Is Integrationism Ethnocentric?
- F. Xuan: A Harrisian investigation on the semiological foundations of abyssal thinking and Southern Perspectives
- K. Chrindo: Rhetoric and Integrationism: In search of Rapprochement
- D. Eisenschtz: The Macrosocial Against the Social.

Session B: From the Outside Looking Inwards: Positivities of the Periphery. Willard 169

- R. Kubota: Southern Theory and Epistemological Racism: Toward a Critical Approach to Language Studies
- C. Juhl: Semantics denatured
- C. Keating: Integrationism and Philosophies of Language: Emerging Alternative Epistemologies in the Global North and Global South
- J. Martinez: Towards a decolonial Applied Linguistics in the Global South: a question of contingency and hegemony

Concluding thanks (4:40-5:15): D. Verity, Penn State University Willard 262

- Closing song: Betty Dhlamini